Fall/Winter Collection 2023/2024 Highlights

In a context in which communication is increasingly focused on the theme of "sustainability", we repropose, further expanding the range, the "ECOTEC" fabrics which are made with pure or blended cotton yarns, from recycled clothes' manufacture scraps, with the addition of virgin cotton to enhance spinnability and forming of a new blend and new spinning.

These yarns are Grs certified and the fabrics "Ecotec" certified.

Since the frayed cuttings come from colored fabrics, there is a range of colors to draw from and then weave the various items; subsequently the fabrics are only wet and finished with the various appropriate treatments.

The range contains single jersey, elastic jersey, plain, striped and striped by "striper", pique and others with variable weights.

There is no shortage of jacquards, openwork jacquards and various works.

We have also expanded the series of basic fabrics made with Bio Gots yarn, such as various single jersey, fleece and interlock made with twisted and gassed piece-dyed; a "Bio", therefore, of high quality.

Still on the topic of sustainability, there are articles made with cotton yarn partly Bio-gots, partly with recycled Grs cotton, which we have called "bio-recycle".

As always, in the winter collection, we propose mixed and 100% wools, both with historical items and with new ones.

Some new "cloth with border" (teli con bordo) is re-proposed, to remind us that we have this technology, which is not common for continuous fabrics. Shine and gloss for women's clothing, both stretch and non, is present in a cashmere blend.

The patented "aercor" series made up of fabrics spaced by weaving effects, with uncommon characteristics of volume, thermal insulation and at the same time, maximum breathability, includes new items with wool, viscose, polyester and a new series of small jacquards in various compositions. Instead of using fabrics coupled / glued with neo / moltoprene or other kinds of artificial materials, with the subsequent problems of transpiration, the "aercor" series allows bulkiness while maintaining comfort and volume too.

The painful part of a winter collection, where the weights are more consistent, considering the current international situation of increased costs never seen in recent decades, lies in the consequent prices of fabrics, which have never been so high and fluctuating.

We cannot remedy our-selves, we can only hope that in the future better conditions will be created and that a fair market balance will be restored.
